

know there are still struggles ahead. But, for Mandy and our family, because of integration, we'll be able to rise to meet these challenges with others in our community.